Raceway owner promises improvements, new jobs

By Hiley Schulte
Staff writer

Chris Pook, the new owner of Gateway International Raceway in Madison, says the raceway will be upgraded and improved to bring new jobs, increased tax revenue and eventually national motorsport events and national media attention to the area.

Pook, president and chief executive officer of the California-based Grand Prix Association of Long Beach, said his plans include relocating the track on the property and enlarging the facility to include an oval track. The raceway is located near the intersection of Interstate 70 and Route 203 in Madison.

Pook made the comments during an appearance before a Madison city council meeting Tuesday night. He also demonstrated his plan through a slide show.

Pook said his immediate plans are to develop strong relationships with Madison, St. Clair County, the state of Illinois and the city of St. Louis and St. Louis County. He said he also hopes to establish a working partnership in which all the economic benefit of his plan will be focused in the region of impact.

He also wants to bring automotive-related business to the adjacent area: "develop and build your product at the same location where you can sell it," he said.

Included are specialty kit car manufacturers, specialty after-market parts manufacturers, alternative fuels programs and transportation systems.

Pook said he eventually hopes to take advantage of the strategic location of Gateway International near St. Louis and divide activities into three categories: "marquee" event management, automotive driving related and special events.

Under "marquee" events, Pook's plan includes a National Hot Rod Association event, an Indy Car championship event, major stock car events and major sports car racing events. That would ensure major media TV exposure, he said.

Automotive driving related events would include the establishment or attraction of a motor-driven training school, the establishment of a law enforcement driver training program and development and encouragement of major automobile manufacturers to use Gateway for ride and drive programs. New car and truck introductions, civic sports activities and charity events all fall into the special events category, he said.

Pook's first phase of plan implementation includes immediate upgrades to the current facility.

"Racing will continue at Gateway in 1995," he said.

Pook also said he wants to enhance Gateway to attract families as a "user-friendly" facility for spectators. (See RACEWAY, Page 10A)

The event is geared toward children purchasing Christmas presents for friends and family members. All gifts will cost 25 cents each and gift wrapping will be available. Photos with Santa Claus will be 55 cents; snacks and treats for children will also be available.

McGinness urges city to appeal ruling

By Bob Slatte
Staff writer

The man who spearheaded an aldermanic referendum in Granite City that was later overturned by a judge wants the city to appeal the judge's decision.

But City Attorney Leo Konzen says that the move could be futile and an appeal would be futile.

Joe McGinness told the City Council Tuesday that he is "disgusted and angry" at Associate Judge David Herndon's Nov. 4 ruling that the referendum to halve the size of the city was passed overwhelmingly by Granite City voters last March — was worded improperly.

The successful referendum to reduce the size of the council by one-half was challenged in court by the Granite City Democratic Party, found in the referendum in favor and said the proposition did not, as statute required, specifically state the number of aldermen that would serve.

"The city election board ... certified the petitions I checked with attorneys. If the election was faulty, why wasn't it caught?" McGinness asked.

He said it is wrong "for two voices to drown out the voices of more than 3,000 citizens" and pleaded with the aldermen to appeal the ruling that had the effect of preserving their jobs.

But Konzen, who argued in court in support of the ballot wording, said that Her-

City debates Lanter plan

Company wants help in obtaining bank loan

By Bob Slatte
Staff writer

The Lanter Company wants Granite City to subordinate its security interest on a $300,000 interest-free loan to the company so that Lanter can obtain a $2.48 million loan from Magna Bank.

Some city leaders say that Lanter should not take title to its debt to the city prior to obtaining the bank loan.

If the bank is willing to loan Lanter $3.4 million, the aldermen ought to give the city the remainder of the $300,000 so it can be used in the city," Alderman Dan Partney said.

In 1993, the city loaned $300,000 of its Community Development Block Grant funds — interest free — to Lanter to assist the company in purchasing land and buildings in Sears Woods in Nottingham Park. Lanter's target was to repay the loan at $10,000 a year for the first 10 years, with a $200,000 payment due in the 11th year.

Partney says on the loan is a first mortgage and lien on the assignment of the Sears lease.

Partney cast the lone vote against the loan in 1993.

Lanter was not seeking to refinance the debt on the warehouse project currently owed to private lenders. Magna, in a letter to Madison County Community Development (which administers the community development block grant program for Granite City), has asked that the city subordinate its lien position to Magna in the amount of $2,480,000.

The property and warehouse is worth $3,100,000 according to an appraisal conducted by Magna.

City Economic Development Director Franz Kraintz said that Lanter is up to date on its loan payments to the city.

According to a contract between the city and Lanter, the city agreed to subordinate its security to allow Lanter to obtain "necessary additional financing."

Aldermanic Finance Committee Chairman Walter Milton said that the city would not be entitled to the entire loan if Lanter were to repay the entire debt to the city because a portion of the loan was obtained against the city's future CDBG allocations.

If Lanter pays us back, we would have to pay back County," Milton said.

But Alderman Jim Miller, also a member of the Finance Committee, said that Partney had a good point regarding the city's loan.

"If the property is appraised (See LOAN, Page 10A)

Aldermanic debate would be cut

Council time limitation is sought

By Bob Slatte

Staff writer

"Mr. Alderman, your time is up."

Many times, Slatte may find himself under pressure to end a debate more often if a proposed amendment to the City Council's decorum ordinance is approved.

The City Council on Tuesday considered reforming the way it conducts its business.

The proposed amendment, which would limit aldermen to two two-minute turns to speak on any given subject, was approved on first reading at Tuesday's meeting.

Crates      Partney

Council meetings, which begin at 7 p.m., were until several years ago, not conducted in an hour. But the city began televising them on the community access cable channel and meetings now often last until nearly 10 p.m.

The current decorum ordinance limits aldermen to two opportunities to speak on any given subject but does not set a time limit for speech. The ordinance does limit council debate on any topic to a maximum of 30 minutes, with a provision for an extension of time by a two-thirds vote of the members present.

Neither Slatte nor his predecessor, Von Dee Cruse, has been a strict enforcer of the decorum ordinance. But in council meetings, during which some aldermen have spoken four or five times on a single subject and some have spoken for as long as fifteen minutes on one topic, have prompted Slatte to begin using his gavel more often lately.

Ward 7 Alderman Sandy Crites asked that the amendment be limited to a limit debate that often becomes repetitive on the council floor.

Ward 4 Alderman Dan Partney opposed the amendment.

"It's a gag rule," Partney said.

"We're here to conduct the public's business. If any alderman that wants to take the time to add to the public's business, then he should be afforded that opportunity." To (See DEBATE, Page 10A)

Drive targets new high: glue, chemical sniffing

A campaign has been launched to snuff out a "silent epidemic" of children and teen-agers sniffing glue and household chemicals that cause brain damage and other serious health problems.

A recent statewide survey of high school students found that nearly one in 10 reported trying glue, solvents such as correction fluid, and other chemicals called inhalants to get high.

That has prompted a public awareness campaign, Danger: Right Under Your Nose, by Lt. Gov. Bob Kustra and the Illinois Department of Alcohol and Substance Abuse.

Arlinda Jones, director of adolescent services for Piasa Health Care, which operates Collinsville and elsewhere in Madison County, said the problem is increasing in the area.

"We treat adolescents who are doing inhalants, and some of them have become extremely violent while under the influence," she said. "In the last year or so, it's increased."

"Recovery is more difficult for this population probably because they always experience some brain damage. Most of the kids we have seen have not had extensive brain damage, but it's very hard to detect."

The age of children abusing inhalants has risen, she said.

"It used to be very young children, such as 4 or 5, but now we're seeing a lot of adolescents from 12 to as old as 17."

Jones said she is not aware of any deaths in the area from inhalant abuse, but Jean Schram, director of prevention services for Piasa Health Center, said it is difficult to isolate that as a cause because "most of the time it's treated as a poison rather than a drug overdose."

Both agreed that abuse of inhalants is a significant problem and that this area is in line with state survey figures.

The survey of students last year by the Department of Alcohol and Substance Abuse concluded inhalants ranked fourth behind alcohol, tobacco and marijuana in substance abuse among Illinois teen-agers.

Use of inhalants was increasing while use of drugs and alcohol was declining.

The study also found inhalant use among female teen-agers was higher than boys.

Jones said she is not aware of any deaths in the area from inhalant abuse, but Jean Schram, director of prevention inhalants through community drug treatment and counseling programs, schools, police departments and parental groups.

Besides the severe and permanent brain damage that can be caused by inhalants, other risks include loss of consciousness and irreversible damage to the liver, kidneys and bone marrow.

Children who start sniffing inhalants to get high will end up with other substance abuse problems, officials said.

Madison County's campaign is aimed at alerting parents and teachers to signs of inhalant use, such as paint stains on body or clothing, red or runny nose, spots or sores around mouth, bad breath odor, dazed or dizzy appearance, nausea, loss of appetite, anxiety and irritability.

Withdrawal signs can include hand tremors, chronic head aches, nervousness and excessive sweating.

Noting that more than 1,000 household products can be potentially abused, the literature urges parents to avoid bearing unwitting drug "dealers" and be suspicious of items such as correction fluid, household glue or solvents disappear.

'A Step Beyond' concert today

The Madison Progressive Women's Club, organized in 1920, will present "A Step Beyond" in concert at 4 p.m. Sunday, Nov. 27, at the West Madison Senior Center, 901 Washington Street in West Madison.

"A Step Beyond" features Bob Ellison, who has performed for government inaugurations and Cardinal baseball openings, with Charlotte Hart and Alex Brink.

For 74 years, the Progressive Women's Club theme and mission has been "Lift as we Climb." The club currently has 10 charter members and one inactive member.

The club is seeking new members. It meets at 7 p.m.

every second Tuesday of the month at the Venice Senior Citizens Center, Brown and Klein Street in Venice.

Refreshments are served at each meeting.

"We cannot, will not let this 74 year-old club fall by the wayside. We want the chapter members to be proud of us," said Cynthia Crawford, president.

Other members include:

Mary M. Griggs, president-emeritus; Helen Ruth Clemens King, vice president; Joyce Brink, treasurer; Altheanine G. Sands, treasurer; Eliza Ward, ways and means chairperson; Ivory Williams, chaplain; Hilda Quincy James, chairperson of the courtesy cheer fund; Effie Lee Spearman Dean; Mahalia Griggs; Betty Caldwell Young; and Cheryl Clegg.

Progressive Women's Club organized a Girls Club, for training in the traditions of the parent body in education, cultural, social and religious activities.

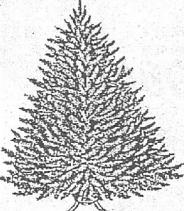

The club belongs to the East St. Louis and Vicinity Council of Illinois Association of Club Women and Girls and the National Association of Colored Women and Girls Club Inc.

Spectrulite to use bond funds for improvement project

By Hiley Schulte
Staff writer

Madison Mayor John Bellcoff told the city council Tuesday night that he had received a notice from the Southwestern Illinois Development Authority that it intends to issue bonds to a Spectrulite Consortium Inc. project in Madison.

The bonds, totaling $6.6 million, will be issued on or before Jan. 31. Spectrulite will use the bonds to finance the upgrade, improvement, addition and replacement of facilities used in the production of aluminum and magnesium die cast products at Borrowers plant.

The notices said that Madison authorities have 45 days to disapprove the project. However, Madison authorities are glad to see the bonds issued and the facility improved.

"They are upgrading their facility, making them more competitive," said City Attorney Casper Nighobosian.

Bellcoff also announced that electric railroad signals will go up at the crossing of Fontenelle Street and Main Street.

Bellcoff said the Illinois Department of Transportation recently surveyed the area and concluded that flashing lights and cameras should be added to the crossing.

The cost of the signals will be paid by the state of Illinois.

The council approved a motion granting Bellcoff authority to sign for the signals at the crossing.

In other action, the board agreed to accept bid from Peter Behnke and Associates Inc., an architectural firm in Edwardsville, for the Madison Phase II elevator project.

The project included the placement of an elevator at the front of Madison City Hall and will cost $18,600.

Three condemnation resolutions were accepted by the board. Buildings at 1817 Collinsville Avenue, 7001 Iowa Avenue and Grandview were taken down.

Alderman Richard George said the police contract is expected to be ratified and signed as soon as a few items of business are taken care of by the comptroller's office.

In other business, City Comptroller Jeanne Weidner told the board that a city building, located at Daviess Circle and Illinois Avenue, was damaged by trucks which were backed in to it, causing the windows to break.

Alderman John Hamm III asked Foley to bring a plan to alleviate the situation to the next meeting. The board agreed.

Defeated Republican Illinois House candidate Ted Prehn of Bethalto is leaning against seeking a recount in his narrow Nov. 8 loss to Sue Davis.

The last thing I want to do is be a poor loser, Prehn said. "I don't know that if we even did have a recount and it came out positive, if that's whether I want to win that way."

Prehn has been consulting Republican officials about options since his surprisingly strong showing in the traditionally heavily Democratic 11th District race to replace retiring Rep. Jim McPike, D-Bethalto.

He has primarily been talking with local Republicans and representatives and I've had conversations with House Republican staffers in Springfield, said Prehn, who lost by 217 votes.

Prehn said he is suspicious about some lopsided votes for Davis in Alton precincts and that a recount would yield a different result of 25 percent of the precincts.

However, he said he has other considerations, including his real estate business. "T. C. Prehn Properties is doing very well and could be hurt by the time and attention needed for a recount," he said.

Asked Tuesday if he is leaning again a recount, Prehn responded, "I think you're right." He said, however, he had not reached a final decision.

If a discovery recount changes a vote in his favor, the candidate initially declared a loser, the full House has the final decision on who to seat. Since Republicans are taking control of the House, that tilt would give Prehn a potential advantage if the discovery recount went in his favor. But Mike Cys, a spokesman for House Republican Leader Lee Daniels, said a recount in the Prehn-Davis race is not anticipated.

"I do not believe we'll be challenging that one. If there is a difference of 100 votes or less it's not challengeable, but 217 is kind of pushing it," Cys said.

He noted that the discovery recounts, mandated by both parties in 1992 House races with margins of 200 or more were unsuccessful. With the dominance of computer punch cards, it may be more difficult to disqualify ballots for being illegally or improperly marked, he said.

Republicans plan to back a recount effort by a House candidate in Decatur who lost by 121 votes, Cys said.

OPINION

A random act of kindness one dark night

One dark and nasty night last week, about 9 p.m., I was driving down a North Side expressway when I entered a side driveway. As the expressway was dark, I quickly exited at the first available ramp. At the bottom of the ramp I pulled into a dark, quiet driveway of a car dealership due to deal with my problem.

The dealership was obviously being closed for the night and two men were standing outside to see that all the cars on the lot were locked up. As I stared desolately into the trunk of my car, trying to remember the location of my spare tire, one of the salesmen came up to me and said, "Let me help."

He reached into the trunk and found my spare tire, took it off and two men were standing with an equally undersized lug wrench. Changing the tire was a dirty job and the salesman got himself and his clothes dirty in the process.

When he was done, I offered to pay my volunteer or compensate him in some way but he repeatedly refused and excused himself and left. By now it was well past closing time and the rest of the staff had left.

One thing my volunteer couldn't tell me is that I recently had open-heart surgery, and given the difficulty of dealing with a reluctant jack and frozen lug nuts, there was no way I could have been able to change the tire myself. On the other hand, being your normal macho male, I would have tried and most likely hurt myself in the process. Apparently, someone was watching over me that night.

Each day our area's news media, especially the Post-Dispatch and television news, report the seemingly endless reports of crime and violence. There are many, myself included, who feel these stories are often overreported and sensationalized in obvious attempts to capture ratings or readers.

There is no doubt that many unfortunate, but nice acts of voluntary service occur each day in our area. But also each day many people are subject to what I received from an unknown car salesman: a random act of kindness.

For the past five years, before moving to the Suburban Journal Newspapers, I was published of the daily paper I worked in won, Illinois. The Alton paper won many editorial awards during my time there, and I believe did an outstanding job of reporting the news of the area. But we must have been determined effort each day to include in the paper, usually on page one, some of the good news that would otherwise go unreported.

These stories included profiles of people who were making unusual contributions to their community or to the quality of life in the area, reports of the positive things that occurred each day and reports of random acts of kindness. These types of stories also appear regularly in the Journals.

As your local town newspaper, the Journals do not concern themselves with international or national news, but only with local news that affects you, your family and your friends. We do try to keep you realize how news. We try to report the positive news as well as the sad news. The three most important news categories at the Journals are local, local and local.

In order to perform our task well, we need to hear from you, our readers. When you have a comment, news tip or question, please contact our managing editor, Scott Queen, 277-7000, or drop a line to me, Don Miller, at 174 Deer Tracks Trail, St. Louis, MO, 63131.

Democracy is a process which must continuously be exercised. It is through the vote of the citizens of Madison County for granted. Because of that, I want to publicly express my sincere thanks for those who have placed their trust in me.

Four years ago you first placed your trust in me and I promised to provide a professional, friendly service. I hope to be able to provide better service at less cost. I think that our record proves I have been successful.

Let me now promise to continue to operate this office in a professional manner. I will continue to try to provide better service at less cost.

When you have the opportunity to visit Edwardsville, please stop by my office in the County Administration Building. I will be happy to show off my office and the professional and friendly staff.

I am excited about the opportunity to serve you for four more years. Thanks.

Warm Neighbors begins drive

The Warm Neighbors program has kicked off its 1994-95 winter fundraising drive to help thousands of families in Illinois Power's service territory who are having difficulty paying heating bills.

Last year, 2,620 financially困难 families received help from Warm Neighbors' either energy assistance payments or weatherization to insulate homes to reduce long-term energy costs.

A poignant example of those who benefit is a central Illinois couple who received help last year after their son wrote to Illinois Power about his family's problems.

"My mom has emphysema (sic) and high blood pressure and she's worried that you'll turn off our electricity," wrote the boy. "I've wake up at night and she's sitting in the dark crying. I don't like to bother you but maybe you could give our name to your 'Warm Family List,' please."

Warm Neighbors is administered by the nonprofit Energy Assistance Foundation and is funded by Illinois Power and its customers.

"Each year our challenge becomes greater," said Philip H. Beach, executive director of the Energy Assistance Foundation.

Applicants for Warm

Neighbors assistance must live in IP's service area but they do not have to be IP customers.

Eligible are qualified families who heat with electricity, natural gas, propane, wood, oil or coal.

Donating to Warm Neighbors is easy. Customers can make one-time or monthly tax-deductible donations along with their bill payment or they can mail their gift to the EAF, P.O. Box 1756, Decatur, Ill. 62525.

Memorial's Outpatient Surgery Center just got better... again.

In 1991, Memorial expanded its very successful Outpatient Surgery Center... but only after we asked our patients what they wanted. We responded by increasing our exceptional nursing professionals, and providing 28 comfortable private patient areas, convenient parking and access—all with the immediate back-up of a full-service medical center.

However through our on-going service evaluation program, our patients told us how to even better serve them. So, we responded with:

- Centralized and quicker diagnostic testing before surgery (about half the time it used to take).
- A special private pre-surgery area for our outpatients.
- Two new state-of-the-art operating rooms for added scheduling convenience.
- A separate recovery area for our outpatients.

When your physician recommends outpatient surgery, whether minor or complex, ask that it be performed at Memorial's Outpatient Surgery Center --- where services are designed with our patients in mind.

Stopping the pain

Drive aims at early treatment of shingles

'Many patients can reduce the duration of chronic and painful complications if they seek early antiviral treatment.'

— Richard Duma M.D.

A national campaign to educate America about the need for early treatment for shingles, a painful viral disease, was launched Nov. 2 in St. Louis at Washington University School of Medicine.

"Screening and Treatment to Overcome Pain," sponsored by the National Foundation for Infectious Diseases (NFID), provides older Americans in 20 cities with educational and free shingles screenings.

"This is an important program for all our seniors because if you catch shingles early, the signs of shingles they can seek immediate treatment which can reduce the amount of time they might suffer from severe pain," said St. Louis Mayor Freeman D. Dickey Jr.

Shingles is a painful infectious disease caused by reactivation of the varicella zoster virus (VZV), the same virus that causes chicken pox. Anyone who has had chicken pox at least 90 percent of all adults — can develop shingles.

Shingles primarily affects persons over age 50, or those with compromised immune systems such as patients with HIV/AIDS, cancer or Hodgkin's disease or other cancers.

Early symptoms of shingles can include a localized tingling sensation, numbness and sharp or burning pain that within days or weeks progresses to a blister-like rash that occurs in the same area as the pain.

In most cases, blisters disappear in a week or two across the torso, but they may occur on the face, head or on other parts of the body. People who experience any of these symptoms should see a doctor promptly for treatment.

"Too many people have suffered from the debilitating pain of shingles. But now there is hope."

"Many patients can reduce the duration of chronic and painful complications if they seek early antiviral treatment," Richard Duma, M.D., Ph.D., executive director of the National Foundation for Infectious Diseases.

"That's why NFID is spearheading a national effort to educate older Americans about shingles, its early signs and symptoms and the need to see a physician promptly."

"We want to teach as many people as possible with the information they need to recognize the early warning signs of shingles," said Dr. Ann Martin, Washington University School of Medicine. "With medication now available that can reduce the duration of post-therapeutic neuralgia, it's more important than ever for patients to seek immediate treatment of this painful infection."

Spreading the message on shingles is also the purpose of the annual STOP tour. This program involves two graphically bold STOP vehicles which will travel nationwide to reach the elderly with critical information on shingles.

The STOP vehicles will tour the country to distribute brochures and flyers to senior centers, shopping malls and other locations where older citizens gather. St. Louis health officials, senior centers, volunteers and physicians will also be available to provide directly to older residents to ensure they learn about the early signs of shingles.

The Accident's Over... Now The Pain Begins...

If you have been injured, you should have a doctor of chiropractic to determine if you have suffered nerve, back or neck damage.

A doctor of chiropractic is specially skilled in relieving the pain caused by injury, inflammation or loss of function in the spine. They may result in serious problems if left untreated. In addition, many other conditions such as headaches, whiplash and disc injuries respond well to Chiropractic care.

Bonds not entirely free of risk

A bond is a type of security; one could call it an IOU written by a private company, municipality or government agency. When an investor purchases a bond, they are lending their money to the issuer.

In exchange for the use of their money, the issuer promises to repay the principal (principal) on a specific maturity date. In addition, the issuer pays the investor periodic interest payments, fixed at a certain amount over the life of the loan.

Some people mistakenly think of bonds as a riskless investment. After all, the bond has a maturity date, what could go wrong?

Perhaps the biggest risk one faces in bond investing is interest rate risk. This has been painfully obvious to bond investors this year. For example, an investor who purchased a 30-year Treasury bond at the beginning of the year faced a paper loss of about 20 percent if they sold that bond today.

Assume in January of this year, an investor purchased a 30-year Treasury bond paying a six-percent yield to maturity. This means that if you hold the bond for 30 years, you will receive a defined rate of return of the bond and along the way earn six percent. Interest rates have risen this year.

Now, let's assume one can purchase a 30-year Treasury bond paying eight percent until maturity. If you want to sell your bond paying six percent today, you will need to discount the price of your bond so that its yield to maturity will match today's market yield of eight percent. After all, who would buy your bond paying six percent if you can get eight percent elsewhere?

The opposite is also true and can work in favor of the bond investor. If you purchase a bond in a declining interest rate market, and the bond you hold pays a higher interest rate than the prevailing market, you could sell that bond at a premium to what you originally paid.

Interest rate risk is proportional to the maturity date. So, to lower this risk, consider laddering or diversifying the maturities. In other words, some with short term (less than three years), some medium (three to 10 years) and long term maturities (10 to 30 years).

Another significant risk a bond investor faces is purchasing power risk or inflation risk. Because a bond holder is earning a fixed interest rate, his interest rate may keep up with the cost of living, but therefore is not a good hedge against inflation.

Credit risk for bond investors is the risk of default by the bond issuer. The bond is basically an IOU by the issuer, one is at risk if they move beyond U.S.

government securities. If the issuer goes bankrupt, you may lose your original investment. Corporate and municipal bonds are rated by such agencies as Standard & Poor's and Moody's to inform investors of the safety of bonds.

Securities that pay a higher interest rate do so as an incentive for investing in their bond. The issuer knows that they will have to pay a higher interest rate to attract investors away from U.S. government securities.

Call risk involves bonds that have a call option, and then interest rates decline. Bonds are usually called when interest rates have fallen so significantly that the issuer can save money by issuing new bonds at a lower interest rate.

Some corporate and municipal bonds have call protection, meaning they cannot be bought back by the issuer or they will not be called until a specific amount of time has lapsed.

Two receive plaques for dedication

John Royce, broker and owner of Century 21 Royce Realty Inc., and Debbie Sander, a top-producing Realtor with the company, were presented plaques of appreciation from the Granite City Board of Realtors during the board's annual installation dinner, held Oct. 8 at the Knights of Columbus Hall. Royce and Sander were honored for their service and dedication to the board and the local community.

Royce has been a Realtor since 1978 and currently serves as a director of the Granite City Board of Realtors. Sander, a past director, holds the position of secretary and treasurer for the board.

John and Debbie are outstanding examples of the quality of professionals working in the Century 21 system," said Bob McKinnon, divisional president of Century 21. "They are leaders in the Century 21 organization and in their community."

Century 21 Royce Realty is located at 2862 Madison Ave. in Granite City.

John Royce and Debbie Sander display the plaques they received from the Granite City Board of Realtors.

Tips on the care of Holiday Plants from the experts at soil feels dry to the touch. Check them daily for water.

Poinsettia plants, with their brilliant flowering beauty, certainly hold a rightful place among the traditions of the holiday season. They're considered the Christmas plant, and have been for many years.

The poinsettia (Euphorbia pulcherrima), originated as a shrub in Mexico, and plant breeding has resulted in varieties well suited to the home environment.

They're slow growers (about 6 inches per year), and may reach a height of 4 to 6 feet. Because of their tendency to bend toward the light, they should be rotated frequently to maintain a symmetrical shape.

Cold is one of the poinsettia's biggest foes. When subjected to it for too long, the plant will die. Since most poinsettias are purchased at a time of year when the temperatures are slightly less than balmy, you may be concerned about getting the plant home from the store. It's not a major problem. The plant should be wrapped in the store at the time of purchase and taken home immediately. It should never be left in an unheated car if the temperature falls below 50°. Unfortunately, there is no treatment to reverse the damage to a plant caused by cold.

Once the poinsettia gets home, unwrap it and place it in a brightly lit area with temperatures between 60° and 70° F. Areas with temperature fluctuations, such as by doors, heat vents, etc. should be avoided. Too much temperature variation can cause leaves to drop. The leaves should not contact any window glass, which damages leaves.

Poinsettias should be watered when the top of the Ed Werner, owner of Werner Chapel for Funerals, congratulates his daughter, Stephanie Werner, for recently receiving her license as a funeral director and embalmer.

All in the family

Stephanie Werner joins funeral business

By Hiley Schulte
Staff writer

Seven years ago, Ed and Barb Werner opened Werner Chapel for Funerals. They didn't make Werner Chapel a family business the recent addition of Stephanie Werner to the licensed staff certainly does, and in more ways than one.

Stephanie became licensed as a funeral director and embalmer on Oct. 1. In 1984 her father, Ed Werner, earned the same license, and in 1987, her mother, Barb, did as well. All three studied at the St. Louis Community College mortuary science program.

Stephanie's 25-month program includes two years of study and a one-year apprenticeship.

Stephanie's studies included a full load of classes in sciences, business, pathology and more, which eventually led to an associate's degree in applied education.

She also worked full-time for her dad while attending school. She sold monuments and did secretarial work and bookkeeping for Werner Chapel.

And if that wasn't enough to keep her busy, Stephanie is a single parent with two children.

who were two and three years old while she was in school. Her son, Jacob, is now five, and her daughter, Emily, is four.

Stephanie said it was all a difficult challenge to overcome, but she had some ideas how I got through it. My parents were real supportive. My dad allowed me to bring the kids to work on weekends. Sometimes Dad babysat while I studied," she said.

However she made it, she is now the only sibling out of nine who is part of the working family business.

"I have eight older brothers and sisters, and none of them want to go into business. Traditionally, it's the son who goes into business. Not this time," Stephanie said.

Stephanie said her dad probably influenced her decision.

"I've always admired my dad. He has a really unique way of dealing with people. It was that admiration that made me do it," she said.

Stephanie is capable of making funeral arrangements, embalming and making death calls on her own. "As an apprentice I did all of that, but with my dad's help," she said.

New coordinator for community services agency

The Illinois Coalition For Community Services (ICCS) welcomes Lyle Cubberly as the new area coordinator for the East St. Louis Area of the Southern Region.

Cubberly works out of the ICCS office at 220 E. State Street in O'Fallon and covers Madison, Monroe, Randolph, Marion, Washington and St. Clair counties. He can be reached at 628-0143.

Cubberly retired from the U.S. Air Force after serving 27 years.

Arts program wins grant

The Arts and Issues program of Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville, in its 10th Anniversary year of bringing exciting performers and educational speakers to the region, has been awarded a $2,000 grant from the Alton Target store.

"We are very pleased and excited to receive this grant from Target," said Arts and Issues coordinator Richard Walker. "Thousands of people will benefit from the generosity of Target stores. The Alton store has been an active member of our community and has demonstrated its commitment to being a good neighbor," Walker said.

Part of that long-term Target commitment is to give five percent of the company's annual taxable profits to community organizations for programs focused on strengthening families and enriching family life. In 1993, Target gave more than $8.3 million to more than 1,500 non-profit organizations nationwide.

"With this grant, we want to recognize and support the important work of Arts and Issues," said Gail Hunt, Alton store manager. "As a family store, our goal is to provide educational and volunteer support to community programs that help strengthen families. SIEU's Arts and Issues is working to achieve this goal."

Minneapolis-based Target Stores is a quality discount retailer with 567 stores in 32 states coast to coast. It is the largest division of Dayton Hudson Corp., one of the nation's leading retailers.

AMVETS serves spaghetti dinner

A spaghetti dinner was served at AMVETS Post 51 by associate members. Post members and families were asked to bring a smile.

"I can personally say it was the best spaghetti and meat balls I have ever eaten. Three different salads were served, absolutely delicious, also garlic bread," said Jane Varnor, president.

"There were smiles, everywhere," she said.

Health professor wins service award

Malcolm Goldsmith, associate professor of health, recreation and physical education and coordinator of the health education program at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville, recently received the Distinguished Service Award from the American School Health Association (ASHA) at an annual conference in Houston.

Goldsmith also presented a paper at the conference, "Peer Strategies for Prevention," focused on health issues that currently plague schools such as teen pregnancies, acts of violence and substance abuse.

48 years later, 'Wonderful'

Karolyn Grimes-Wilkerson is 54 years old. But millions of Americans know her instead as the 6-year-old girl held Jimmy Stewart's arm in the final, tear-jerking scene of "It's a Wonderful Life."

"Grimes-Wilkerson, 54, of Stilwell, says her role as Jimmy Stewart's adorable daughter Zuzu in the holiday classic filmed 48 years ago has not been forgotten.

"It's good that I live in Stilwell because I get mail addressed to Zuzu, Stilwell, Kansas," she said. "I have tons of things that people send me; you wouldn't believe it. Angels, boy do I have angels..."

In the movie, Stewart plays a banker named George Bailey who jumps off a bridge after his savings and loan is taken over by a bank. He is saved by an angel. When Bailey tells the angel he wishes he'd never been born, the angel shows Bailey how terrible the townsperson's lives would have been without him, prompting Bailey to return home to his family.

The movie, directed by Frank

Capra, was Stewart's first role after he finished military service, said Grimes-Wilkerson. ("Stewart" really didn't know what he was getting into.) Capra asked him to do this movie. Of course he did it and it was a bomb," she said. "It was just after the war, and whether the people wanted to be entertained or what, I don't know. It just didn't hit the people."

The movie's popularity was reviewed about 10 years ago, and is now shown repeatedly on television during the Christmas season.

"I'm so glad, because it's such an American tradition," she said. "A lot of people love this movie. It's about reaching out and touching other lives."

Grimes-Wilkerson admits a more selfish reason for enjoying the movie's popularity.

"I love it. I'm on the stage again; it's in the limelight," she said. "I open my mouth and I'm said."

The movie's cast reunited last year in Stewart's hometown of Indiana, Penn., where Grimes-Wilkerson found Stewart to be nice and humble as ever.

"No big head for him," she said.

This year, Grimes-Wilkerson has several upcoming holiday appearances in Washington state, Chicago and on the East Coast.

I've invited to 'It's a Wonderful Life' parties all over the United States," she said. "If they pay me, I'll do anything. I used to do it gratis, but I don't anymore, because people really

Phi Delta Kappa chapter cited

At its annual initiation during its first yearly meeting at the Collinsville Holiday Inn on Oct. 11, the Phi Delta Kappa Gateway East Chapter 1097 received recognition on membership initiation from guest speaker Dr. Doug Bidement, PDK International president.

Dr. Bidement emphasized that service to the community is one of his international goals. Gateway East initiated 16 new members from the Metro-East area.

PDK is an international education fraternity. The Gateway East Illinois Chapter strives to promote the development of the school, the home and the community area.

Elaine Jergla, Shiloh, state Alzheimer's chairman, sent a report on the cost for the care of Alzheimer's patients and how they will need to work extra hard to help support this charity.

Patricia McCall, state Golden Eagle chairman, will be holding an "Eagle Rug" raffle to be given away at the convention to help defray the cost of lapels.

Prizes were won by Bernie Brinza and Evalean Ederle. A social hour and refreshments were served by Del Deloney, Sue Allen and Fuzz Hagnauer.

Eagles Auxiliary 1126 had 29 members in attendance when the president, Anna Spangler, opened the meeting. The Pledge of Allegiance was given by all in attendance.

The minutes of the previous meeting were read and the secretary's report was approved. Two new applications were read and the membership reported on the members that were to be initiated at the next meeting held Nov. 22 at the Eagles Home, 2358 Madison Ave.

An invitation was read from the Flora, Ill., Auxiliary 2438 inviting all to attend the officers meeting that was held on Nov. 18 and 19 and the District 8 meeting held Nov. 20. Rita Cuoco, District 7 secretary, invited all to attend the meeting held Nov. 25 at Wood River Auxiliary 254, 73 Ferguson, held Nov. 20, 1994.

Patricia gave her report. There were 83 members in attendance in the state. Several state officers and chairmen gave speeches to update the local auxiliaries.

Vera Johnson, Alzheimer's chairman, hosted a bake sale on Nov. 11. Sue Allen, kidney chairman, announced that her committee was to sponsor a bake sale on Nov. 18. Anna Spangler announced that the escort were to sponsor a card party on Nov. 15 at the Eagles Home.

Patricia announced that the Christmas party would be held at 6 p.m. Dec. 10 at the Eagles Home with guest "Jessica," the adopted Christmas child. The cost is $4.

Others in attendance were Pam Benefield, Mildred Boyd, Jeannie Burnett, Elvinda Cias, Tina Francis, Sandra Hahne, Bonnie Jacobs, Sandra Kostoff, Connie Moll, Orse Piechocinski, Dorothy Robles, Martha Simpson, Fay Stokes, Shirley Weatherford and Vickie Wurker.

Prizes were won by Bernie Brinza and Evalean Ederle. A social hour and refreshments were served by Del Deloney, Sue Allen and Fuzz Hagnauer.

Selph addresses Pontoon Lions Club

The Pontoon Beach Lions Club held its monthly dinner meeting on Oct. 20. The guest speaker at the meeting was Granite City Mayor Ron Selph, who spoke on the problems of the youth center, which needed a place for the children to go for fun and recreation.

The Pontoon Beach Lions is helping the mayor get the youth center started by donating one week of profits made from its Wednesday night bingo.

Mayor Selph was presented with an appreciation award from the Pontoon Beach Lions. Lion Bob Daugherty presented the award to Selph.

Esther Class plans holiday party Dec. 12

Maxine Green covers the Granite City and Nameoki Townships for the Press-Record Journal. She can be contacted at 931-6268.

The Esther Class of Suburban Baptist Church met monthly in Nov. 14 in the home of Helen Cook. Minutes of the previous meeting were read and approved.

New business brought up by Doris Hall was to give a case of canned food for the Thanksgiving baskets. Susie Horton suggested a gift certificate to give them to new members in the Carol home. All new business was approved.

The meeting night will remain on the second Monday of each month.

The Christmas party will be held at 7 p.m. Dec. 12 in the Town and Country Recreation Hall. Christmas bingo will be played with white elephant gifts.

One class teacher gave a donation of $10. That amount will go to the "Hemberg to Hemberg," written by Robert Hastings in his book, Tiny Burg Tales.

Refreshments were served to Hilda Jackson, Gladys Templeman, Georgetta Monical, Horton.

Maxine Green

Evelyn Morehorn, Imogene Smith, Louise Rollins, Helen Lily, Pat Von Nida, Susie Ritter, Ruth Moore, Demona Hollkamp, and Ruth Bunker.

Refreshments for the Christmas party will be turkey breast, furnished by the class, and each member should bring a covered dish. ***

The Christian Senior Adult Group met Nov. 15 in the Ponderosa Steak House with 15 members present.

"Happy Birthday" was sung to two honored guests. An hour of fellowship was enjoyed. The next meeting will be at 7 p.m. Dec. 20 at Shoney's on Nameoki Road.

There will be a $5 gift exchange. Present at the November meeting were Vera Kirkpatrick, G.L. McDaniel, Ollie Jones, C.L. Dillman, Zane Miller, Hilda McMasters, Velma Rice, Cleo Sucher, Jeannette Wiesenberger, Vickie Harper, Beulah Goodman, Dorothy Teller, Evelyn Miles, Hassie Jones and P.B. Hume.

Members of the Senior Citizens Plus will be celebrating Mid-America's brightest holiday Nov. 30 through Dec. 1.

The group will leave Ramada Inn in Alton at 7:30 a.m., making a stop at Olepi's Market Place to shop. They will check in at Ramada and rest over at the hotel. They will enjoy an evening meal at Uncle Al's, then go on a guide tour of Olepi's Forest, Winter Wonderland, Sweet Potato Patch, and a tour of the city later. The group will then return to the covered dish. ***

Crusaders' shooters sink Lady Warriors

By Rob Raphael
Correspondent

After his Crusaders made just six out of 20 free throws against East St. Louis, Alton coach Jim Karwoski said he'll have his girls practice a little during the week.

The practice paid off Tuesday night as the Crusaders hit 21 of 39 from the charity stripe en route to a 75-50 victory over the visiting Granite City Lady Warriors.

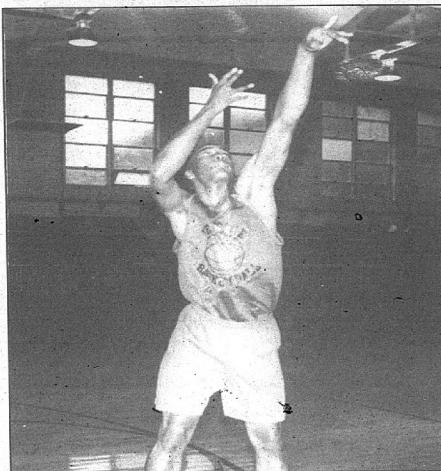

"That poor shooting was a big reason we lost that (East Side) game," Karwoski said. "Really, when you're gearing up for that one first game, it's hard to start out like that—three straight shooting. But afterwards, you can concentrate on little things like that."

On Tuesday, the Lady Warriors shot their free throws much the same way Althoff did in their first game, making just seven of 19.

BUT IT WAS mostly a stretch in the second quarter that made the difference in the game.

Althoff carried a three-point lead (14-11) into the second quarter, but the Lady Crusaders came out shooting. The result was a 15-0 run during the first

Varsity experience key for Collins, Trojans

By Tony Panozzo
Staff writer

With a number of players who did not start last year but have varsity experience and a gym floor in need of repairs, the Madison High basketball team could be in for a rebuilding phase this season. Al Collins prefers to see it otherwise.

"I consider it a building year, not a rebuilding year," said Collins. "This year is coming off a 7-17 season. I'm looking for a little more this year."

The Trojans were also looking for an answer as to where they might play this season before settling on the gymnasium at Madison Middle School. Madison's own roof suffered water damage recently because of a leaking roof and is currently unfit for play.

COLLINS SAID THE roof over the gym was patched, but the damage to the floor is wide-spread and it remains to be seen whether the Trojans will be able to use it this year.

"It kind of doubt it, but it's possible," Collins said. "They're trying to dry out the floor. We can practice on it because certain areas are fine. In games, you play the whole floor." It's not good enough, however, especially if it'll work out. It's just too bad to play on."

The Trojans are still conducting several practices at the high school, but they will play their home opener Tuesday against Waterloo at the middle school. The middle school gym seats approximately 500 people and forward Brandon Bennett. Ware had the team in scoring (19 ppg) and rebounding (15 rpg) and will be difficult to replace.

THIS YEAR'S TEAM IS Harris' youngest, and it could also be among the least imposing in terms of size.

"We don't have that rebounding edge like Jermaine gave us last year," Harris said. "We'll have to screen out under the boards this year."

"We're small, so we'll have to do all the things to try to like setting screens and taking good shots. We have to play good defense and take good shots."

Leading the offense will be the team's only returning senior guard, sophomore Antoni Roberts.

As a freshman, Roberts stepped in last year when the Red Devils lost two starters to disciplinary suspensions.

Roberts helped the team jell after a midseason slump and took over as the team's playmaker down the stretch. He will be counted on to lead a brand-new rotation of players.

"HE'S THE ONLY one that really started consistently last year," Harris said. "He started picking it up toward the end of the year."

Joining Roberts in the starting lineup are two other sophomores and two juniors. The Red Devils will employ a three-guard offense consisting of Roberts and sophomores Ron Taylor and

Youthful Warriors ready to step up

By Tony Panozzo
Staff writer

With no returning starters and a line up lacking much varsity experience, the Granite City basketball team has more than just a few question marks this season.

But John Van Buskirk enters his third year with the same positive outlook he had in his over-all first two seasons. Granite City is coming off its first winning season in two years, and Van Buskirk is hoping a new set of players can carry over last year's success.

THE WARRIORS WENT 15-12 last year and finished second in the Southeast Conference under the leadership of Larren Mosby and Jason Black. The two standout guards led a senior-dominated team that won seven of its last nine games, including a regional option.

Mosby and Black are now gone, as is the rest of Granite City's six-player rotation from last year. The Warriors will miss the scoring provided by Mosby and Black, who combined to average 38 points per game.

Still, Van Buskirk hopes several newcomers can step up to fill the void.

"You really can't replace those kids," Van Buskirk said. "It's a new team and a new identity. It's going to take some time."

"WE WANT TO find out what we can do best. We just have to keep working and try to find the right combination of kids. I'm not settling on any certain five. It'll make for a better team and it'll give some more kids some opportunities."

The Warriors' projected list of starters includes two players who received a limited amount of varsity playing time last year, junior Jay Simpson and senior Wayne Myers. Simpson returns at guard and Myers at wing, play center or forward.

Joining them will be two senior forwards, Greg Vaughn (6-3) and Keith Simon (6-0). (See WARRIORS, Page 3B)

GCHS matmen pin down first win

Upper weights dominate in season-opening match

By Rob Raphael
Correspondent

Considering eight wrestlers from last year did not participate in the Granite City Warriors' first meet on Tuesday night, the outcome was quite respectable.

The Warriors defeated the host O'Fallon Panthers 46-23 in the opening dual meet of the season for both schools.

Traditionally strong in the lower weight groups, the Warriors won only two of the first seven matches. However, they won the upper weight groups that dominated, as the Warriors swept the final six matches for the win.

SEVEN WRESTLERS ON THE current roster did not compete for various reasons, and GCHS coach Mike Garland said that most of them should be back in Garland had four freshmen step in to replace some of the missing wrestlers. John Kelly (125), Matt Weisenborn (124), Jonas Janek (135) and Matt Glover (140) all performed well, said Garland.

"I am happy with everybody, but we really need somebody with the job that they did," he said. "It was unfortunate that they didn't pick up any wins, but it takes nothing away from their performance."

Mat Weisenborn opened the season with a 12-4 loss to O'Fallon's Chuck Burrows. Kelly was outpointed by Nick Burrows before Tim Fulkerson pinned Robert King in 54 seconds.

GARLAND SAID HE was happy with the way Fulkerson, the senior captain, and Matt Mendenhall slowed the O'Fallon Lindsey Weathers. Weathers is a second point guard, and Taylor will be a shooting guard.

In the middle will be Keita Kennedy, a 6-2 center; and Donald Harris, a 6-1 forward. Both are juniors.

"Another junior, Edwin Barbee, saw time on the varsity level last year and will come off the bench."

Several other players will see significant time with the Red Devils, including sophomore guard Don Matthews and junior forward Eric Nelson. Venice's seniors are set to award Sean Bennett and Lonnie Roberson.

VENICE WILL RELY ON ITS TRADEMARK QUICKNESS BECAUSE OF THE TEAM'S LACK OF SIZE. Harris said the Red Devils will also have a focus on forcing mistakes defensively.

"We've got to rely on quickness," Harris said. "The main thing is defense. If we don't play any defense, we won't win any games."

The Red Devils are coming off a disappointing season that turned into a transition year despite the presence of four returning seniors. After going 1-10 in regional title play the year before, the Red Devils finished 11-18—their worst season ever under Harris.

"I thought we had good talent last year, but we just couldn't put it together," Harris said.

Harris hopes to see the Red Devils progress as quickly as possible this season.

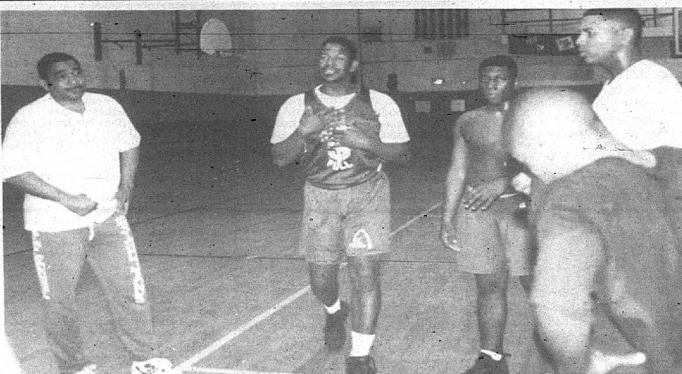

The game was originally listed on Venice's schedule for Wednesday, but it will be played one day earlier. Venice will play its first home game Dec. 13 against Dupo.

HARRIS WILL BE ASSISTED THIS YEAR BY FRESHMAN COACH GLEN MCPHEARSON AND JUNIOR VARSITY COACHES PHILLIP WHITE AND DON MATTHEWS.

"We've had a couple of good practices so far," Harris said. "All I want to see us do is the fundamentals."

The team has the talent, they just need to listen and do the right things in practice. Hopefully, we can win some games."

sophomore, Kyle Briggs, will be running the offense at point guard.

"He's a very good athlete," Van Buskirk said. "He has a lot to learn about playing point guard, but he has a lot of ability."

Van Buskirk said Granite City's first guard off the bench will be Dana Anderson, a 5-11 senior. Anderson, 6-2 sophomore forward Ross Smith and Jason Peach, a 6-1 senior center, appear to be the Warriors' top reserves thus far.

Peach could join Myers in a frontcourt that figures to have more size than last year's team. Granite City's tallest starter last year was 6-1 senior Rob Wallace, who played center.

"We're going to be bigger this year," Van Buskirk said.

"(Peach) will be asked to score for us. He's a hard worker and he'll give us some scoring ability."

"We're looking for some good things from (Smith). He's very athletic and he'll get a lot of playing time. (Anderson) will get plenty of time and he'll do a good job."

Most of Granite City's lineup saw time on the junior varsity level last year and will be playing on the varsity level for the first time this season. The Warriors will be counting on their JV experience and amount of practice time against last year's varsity team.

"Hopefully, they learned a great deal last year playing against those kids," Van Buskirk said. "They know our offense."

The biggest concern for Van Buskirk, however, is the team's lack of experience and overall leadership.

"We don't have that right now," Van Buskirk said. "We're still looking for that."

"Right now, I'm not ruling out JV players. They're close to getting some time. They're looking good in the preseason."

Five juniors will contribute on the varsity level this season: Guards Steve Logan and Matt Hewlett; forward Matt Kelahan; and centers Jeff Wallis and Rob Ellis.

The Warriors could also add another player if Jeff Byrne adds to the roster when he becomes eligible in January. Byrne, a senior transfer from Chicago, is a 6-3 forward.

"He's a very good shooter and he could probably help us out," Van Buskirk said.

The Warriors open the season Tuesday at Springfield and will play their first home game Friday, Nov. 25, against East St. Louis.

Van Buskirk will be assisted this season by three coaches, Carl Lundquist, Jim Hyatt and Bruce DePew. Luehmann will be the JV coach, Hylla will be the sophomore coach and DePew will be the freshman coach.

Van Buskirk said Althoff will try out a number of rotations in the early going and will take a wait-and-see approach.

"They're working hard," Van Buskirk said. "If we can play eight kids this year, that would be great. If we can keep them working hard, we'll be OK."

five minutes of the period.

"We got off to a slow start. We were moving well, and we were playing good team defense," Lady Warrior coach David Weller said. "We had a few calls against us, and several players got in foul trouble."

When they pressed, we became confused, and didn't react well," Weller said. "We started off 1-1, and our opponents had a 25-2 in the quarter, and had a 25-point cushion at the half."

"We have three different presses," Karsowski said. "We were in a man-to-man early in that quarter, then (Weller) called a triangle, and I think he would change things around, so we went to a 2-2 press after that, and it worked well."

"When we took that timeout, everyone was talking about what once we beat the pressure we had chances for easy baskets," Weller said. "But we had trouble connecting on those passes."

As Sarah Woolsey had 13 points and Jill Gomric and Courtney Johnston added 12 each.

Denise McMillan led the Lady Warriors with 20 points, including three 3-pointers, but she was held to eight points in six shots. McMillan also had ten rebounds (six), and assists (five). Jennifer Willis added 10 points for Granite City (1-1).

The Lady Warriors stayed with the visiting Crusaders early in the second half, but an 8-0 run by the Crusaders gave them their largest lead at 53-36 with just 1:40 left in the third period.

Gomric, who added four rebounds, three assists, two blocks and four steals, keyed the run for Althoff.

"Althoff is a good fundamental team," Weller said. "They aren't the tallest team we will face, but they have a lot of players who can come in and out, and they don't miss a beat. It's tough to play a team like that."

Althoff enjoyed balanced scoring as Sarah Woolsey had 13 points and Jill Gomric and Courtney Johnston added 12 each.

momentum in the early matches.

"We were reeling a bit when Tim stepped up and got a quick pin," Gomric said. "Then Mark won the next match. Mark stepped up and got a quick pin himself (40 seconds). As a team we need guys like that who will come to the forefront and stop the bleeding."

Bleymaker was outpointed by Scott Viteri before Mendenhall pinned Marty Miller. In the 145-pound class, Granite City's Jeff Estrada, the Warriors reeled off six consecutive wins to close out the match.

Estrada, Joe Scott (160), Tony Buech (171), John Selliers (183)

and Chris Janek (275) all recorded falls over their opponents. In fact, the only Warrior who won a match by points was 152-pounder Jamie Kirby, who defeated Mendenhall 12-11.

"It was good to see all of those pins," Gomric said. "Overall, we showed a lot of character, which was very welcome at this point."

"We still have a lot of work to do, but we got some help from our freshmen and some good efforts in our heavier weight groups, which is a good way to start the season."

The Warriors were scheduled to open their home schedule on Wednesday night against Carbondale, and will continue before taking the rest of the week off for the Thanksgiving holiday.

floor leader right now, so hopefully that's what they'll do. We hope they can jell and find a leader."

"We have some raw talent, but we have the potential."

Among the returning players with varsity experience are seniors Milan Jones and Eddie Thomas and sophomores Alvin Valentine and Kevin Bradley.

Jones came off the bench as a shooting guard and last year he will run the defense at point guard.

"Milan is a good streak shooter right now," Collins said. "He's a good kid and he can fill it up at times. He's got good instincts for the game and he's got some valuable experience last year."

The other guard spot will be filled by Tony Peacock, a junior transfer from Edwardsville High School. Smith attended junior high school in Madison and has returned after a two-year stay at Edwardsville.

Collins said Smith will play shooting guard, point guard or both.

"He's good enough to play either," Collins said. "He's a good ballhandler and he's going to be a good ballplayer. He's quiet and can shoot. He has a winning attitude and hopefully we can get the same out of everybody."

Thomas, a 6-1 swingman, figures to start at forward along with 6-1 senior Anthony Woodson.

"He's a good shooter," Collins said of Thomas. "He's a good kid and he can be a good player this year."

The Trojans have similar hopes for Valentine, a 6-5 center who saw action in several games last year. Collins is looking for Valentine to mature and develop into an offensive threat under the basket.

"He's got a lot to learn," Collins said. "He's going to have to have a better work ethic. He needs to become more consistent. I'd love to see him play defense and get that body on some people."

Valentine will be joined inside by Bradley, another sophomore with size. Bradley stands 6-3, 221 pounds.

"He'll be our first big man off the bench," Collins said.

Because the Trojans are without a returning starter, Collins said they will rely heavily on their seniors. Several players will eventually have an impact, including sophomores Demond Simms, Jerrind Howard and Clinton.

Two freshmen, Maurice Baker and Eric Samuels, could also fill roles for the Trojans this year. Collins said Baker has shown considerable potential for his age.

"Our kids are going to have to watch him," Collins said. "He knows how to be a good shooter and when he gets up to him, I'd love to see him play defense and get that body on some people."

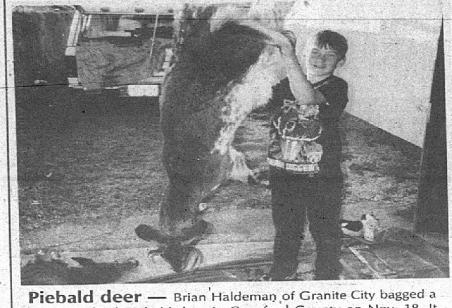

Samuels has great potential, but is tough inside and he can put the ball in the hoop."

Rounding out the roster are seniors DeWayne Blakely and Christopher McNeely, and J.W. Jones, Obie, and Charles Franklin, and sophomores Andrew Trice and Brandon McGirt.

"It's going to be an experience for us," Collins said. "We hope we can jell and be ready near the end of the season."
